

Limber Pine Woodland (13)

Location. This map class is restricted to small polygons on the exposed, south-facing upper slopes of O'Leary Peak.

Photosignature. This map class was mapped from field observations. In general the appearance is similar to that of sparse pinyon-juniper stands (12), except that the individual tree crowns tend to be taller and broader. The understory is generally sparse, but appears white because the ground is covered with litter. The pictured example is from the shoulder of O'Leary Peak below the summit ridge.
